Ocean Claims Lives Of Two Men

The Pacific Ocean claimed one body and gave up another Sunday on the San Mateo County Coastside. Jack Merrick, son of Jack C. Merrick of Belmont, was drowned at Miramar Beach Sunday and his body has not been recovered. A mile north of Point Montara, the body of Frank Brewer, San Francisco, missing since June 6, was discovered by three San Francisco men.

Merrick, 19, a former student at San Mateo Junior College, went to the beach with George Thompson of San Francisco who reported he was resting on the sand while Merrick, an expert swimmer, rode the waves on his surf-board.

"Suddenly I noticed Jack's board drifting toward the beach. I looked for him and saw him far out, waving his arms for help," Thompson said.

A soldier, driving past also saw Merrick signaling for help and joined Thompson in attempting a rescue. When they arrived at the spot where Merrick was last seen, his body had disappeared.

The coast guard conducted a search between Point Montara and the Golden Gate station by plane and boat but did not discover the body.

In addition to his father, Merrick, who was employed by a San Francisco newspaper, is survived by a brother, James, 13, his stepmother, Mrs. Helen Merrick and an aunt, Mrs. R. L. Ruhl, Butte, Mont.

Brewer, a former San Carlos resident, an employee of Lachman Bros., San Francisco, disappeared June 6 while surf fishing. He is believed to have been pulled into the water by the

San Carlos Salvage Group Nets $450 From Activities

SAN CARLOS—The San Carlos Salvage for Victory Committee has banked $450 to date, Fred H. Drake, chairman, announced this week.

The committee, which operates a municipal salvage yard next to the firehouse, has on hand 1560 pounds of rubber awaiting shipment, 6 tons of tin cans, 4 tons of glass bottles, 7 tons of iron and 4 tons of folder paper cartons, baled for shipment. The rubber at the yard is in addition to the rubber being collected by the oil companies through the service stations.

A blue cross insignia is being adopted by the salvage committee, which has made 8 stretcher blankets from cloth scraps, 5 stretcher mattresses and one operating table from materials turned in for reclaiming. The State Chamber of Commerce is studying the San Carlos salvage program for statewide recommendation, Drake said. All funds from the wholesale or retail sale of the materials are turned over for the purchase of civilian defense equipment and all work is on a voluntary basis.

According to Drake, a retail store conducted by the committee has done a rushing business in children's articles of all kinds, canned jars, costume jewelry and zippers. Clothing found unsuitable for retail is cleaned and either sold for oil wipers or cut up for stretcher blankets.

His body was discovered one mile north of Point Montara by Daze Carl, Earl Davis and Earl Ekman all of San Francisco.

He was 23 years old, a native of New York. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Audrey Brewer, and one son, Danny Russell Brewer. He also leaves his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel F. Brewer of Newman; four sisters, Mrs. Helen Barsanti, Ruth and Edyth Brewer, all of Newman; Lucy Brewer of San Francisco; and two brothers, Daniel and Raymond Brewer.

Funeral services were held this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Layne & Tinney Funeral Home in Redwood City. Interment was at the Santa Clara cemetery.

Lots of Study For 'Conchita'

Infinite rehearsal and careful study of character were necessary for Bess Ehrhardt to create "Conchita," featured in the Mexican fiesta sequence of the Shipstad and Johnson Ice Follies of 1942, now showing nightly at Winterland in San Francisco.

Costumed in a brilliantly sequined circular skirt, reminiscent of Carmen Miranda, and crowned with an elaborately feathered head-dress, Bess swirls and swings through a sultry traditional Mexican folk dance. The smoothness of her movements and the graceful sinuosity of her arms belie the patient hours of practice necessary to perfect the new routine.

Every opportunity she had, Miss Ehrhardt took advantage of the time the ice was not being utilized for other rehearsals during the summer months. Some times it meant being on hand at 7 a. m. and other times she stayed following the regular evening performance, practicing alone until almost 2 a. m. Although Bess worked out the actual steps and routine herself, she was aided in its perfection by Stanley Kahn, well-known San Francisco ballet master.

Bess, as "Conchita," is the highlight of the 20-minute-long fiesta sequence. In it she is introduced by a dozen Ice Follies lads dressed as swanky Mexican dons. They work with her during the early part of the number and then retire to leave the ice to Bess alone.

During the four months of summer rehearsal when the routine was in development, Miss Ehrhardt spent hours alone learning to handle the difficult circular skirt gracefully. In order to accomplish this, she had a dummy skirt fabricated that was exactly the same cut and the same weight as the finished costume skirt and worked with that.

Other features in the "fiesta" sequence include a Mexican double, La Jota, by Canadian champions, Colson and Claudet, the Jarabe Tapatio, or Mexican Hat Dance, and a colorful group of Mexican flower girls.

Some structures like tall bridges and towers take a heavy toll of migrating birds that dash against them.

During the last fiscal year 20 kidnappings occurred and all were solved by the FBI.

War Heroes To Visit S.F.

The United States thrilled at his four words: "Sighted sub, sank same."

The man who sent that message to headquarters will arrive in San Francisco on Saturday. He is one of the 15 American and British war heroes now touring 21 American cities under the U. S. Treasury's sponsorship, to promote purchases of war savings bonds.

This hero is 28-year-old Ensign Donald F. Mason, whose wife now lives in Alameda.

And on Saturday evening, June 27, he will tell, from the platform of the civic auditorium, just how he performed this exploit. His 14 comrades, all selected by their governments for heroism, will also, one by one, tell of their thrilling feats in land, sea or air fights.

Even the Navy Dept.'s unadorned records have been unable to disguise the drama of Ensign Mason's exploit. The record states in part:

"While piloting his plane on patrol duty, Ensign Mason discovered the wake of a submarine proceeding submerged at periscope depth. He immediately dove to a low altitude and dropped two depth bombs which straddled the periscope.

"The submarine's conning tower rose slightly for a short period and then sank. A large patch of oil covered the area."

After which Ensign Mason radioed his now historic message.

This feat won for him two decorations, the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Silver Star Medal, with a citation which read in part:

"For distinguished coolness, alertness, initiative and flying ability."

A. M. Bowles, general chairman of the San Francisco War Heroes' Committee in charge of the city's welcome, said today he anticipated an overflow audience at the rally. It will be the heroes' only appearance in Northern California, and many persons from surrounding cities and towns are expected to join San Francisco in honoring them.

The heroes will arrive at 12:30 p. m. Saturday by army bomber plane. Mayor Angelo J. Rossi heads the list of the welcoming committee's honorary chairman, whose other members are Lieut. Gen. John L. DeWitt, western defense and fourth army commander; Adm. John W. Green-slade, commandant 12th Naval District; Maj. Gen. W. P. Upshur, U. S. Marine Corps, and British Consul General G. A. Fisher.

The fighting men will then participate in a huge military parade at 2:30 p. m., directed by William H. Moulthrop, chairman of the parade committee. The rally at the civic auditorium, whose doors will be opened at 7:30 p. m., will climax the day's celebration.

Henry F. Boyen, chairman of the auditorium rally committee, has stated there will be no admission charge, and the seating arrangements will be, first come, first served. The auditorium will

S.C. Man Missing

A San Mateo Marine Corps captain and a San Carlos Marine Corps private were reported missing in a casualty list issued today by the U. S. Navy in Washington, according to the Associated Press.

Capt. Benjamin L. McMakin of San Mateo and Pvt. John J. Jessup, whose mother, Mrs. Louise C. Jessup, is living with her daughter, Mrs. A. W. Jagow, at 1914 Arroyo Ave., San Carlos, were among 280 Californians missing in action.

Jessup enlisted in October of 1940. He attended an Oakland high school and Santa Clara University, playing football at both institutions. His brother, Edward F. Jessup has enlisted in the U. S. Navy and is now in training.

Mrs. Jessup said she had received no direct word from John since last Thanksgiving when he was being sent to Cavite. Early last month she received a wire from the navy informing her that her son was missing and that he might be a prisoner of war.

Autoists Must Buy New Use Stamps

Automobile owners were warned today by Postmaster Robert E. O'Connell that the federal $5 motor vehicle use tax stamps must be purchased before Wednesday, July 1, and advised that they buy them early to avoid having to wait in line on the last day. The red stamps will be effective for one year.

Members of the California State Automobile Association may get the stamps at the San Mateo office of the club, 101 So. Ellsworth Ave., according to Samuel W. Dutart, district manager for the motorists' organization.

In case of sale or transfer the stamp cannot be retained but must go with the car. On the back of the stamp is a form for recording car make and model, engine and license numbers.

Peninsula Interurban Depot

Opens Monday, June 29

THE INCREASE in number of bus passengers caused by war conditions has placed a heavy burden on the main Greyhound San Francisco Terminal at Fifth and Mission Streets, creating congestion, delay, and inconvenience to our patrons. In order to relieve this situation, as well as to give better service to Peninsula commuters, a temporary Interurban Depot has been established on Seventh Street in San Francisco for the exclusive use of Peninsula bus riders.

Effective Monday, June 29th, all local Peninsula service between San Francisco and San Jose will operate into and out of the new Peninsula Interurban Depot, located at Seventh Street between Market and Mission Streets, directly opposite the main United States Post Office, as shown on map above.

IMPORTANT: Effective June 29th, there will be no local Peninsula service into or out of the Fifth and Mission Streets Terminal.

R.C. Residents May Mail 'V-Mail' to Service Men

Photographic "V-mail" letters to members of the U. S. armed forces in foreign service may now be sent from the Redwood City post office by those applying for special correspondence forms, R. E. O'Connell Jr., Redwood City postmaster, announced this week.

Planned by the war and navy departments, the new system will facilitate deliveries to soldiers and sailors by allowing the passage of more mail in crowded ships.

PHOTOGRAPHIC COPY

Letters written in Redwood City will be sent to San Francisco, O'Connell said, where the message will be photographed on 16-millimeter film which will be shipped abroad by plane or ship. On reaching its destination the film will be developed and an enlarged photographic copy of the message delivered.

Termed the "V-type" by the post office department this service is for letters to men in foreign service only. It will cost no more to the sender than regular mail. Mail to men in the service who are stationed within the United States must be sent by the regular method.

FREE TO SOLDIERS

Service men may send the new type mail to friends in the serv-

S. J. Chaney Will Move To Los Gatos Pastorate

Transfer of Dr. Samuel J. Chaney, pastor of the First Methodist Church in Redwood City for the past three years, to a similar post at Los Gatos was announced Monday at the closing session of the annual Methodist conference in Stockton, the Associated Press reported.

Appointed to fill the local pastorate was the Rev. Earl D. Carter. Mr. Carter is now located at Delano, where he has been for the past two years. Before that time he served in Glendale. He is married and has three children. It was expected the changes would become effective July 1 with Dr. Chaney probably preaching his farewell sermon here next Sunday. He has been attending the conference.

DR. SAMUEL J. CHANEY

Dr. Chaney came to Redwood City from Alameda three years ago this month, after a pulpit exchange with the Rev. William J. Owen. Last year Mr. Owen was transferred to Visalia. 28-YEAR BACKGROUND Before being sent to Alameda in 1935, Dr. Chaney had filled pulpits in the state of Washington. He has been in the ministry 28 years. He and Mrs. Chaney, who live at 173 Elwood St., have three children, including Mrs. G. W. Underkofler of Jeter St.

Other pastors on the Peninsula were reappointed. They include John R. Wilkins, Burlingame; Ronald H. White, Millbrae; Gerald Kennedy, Palo Alto; E. N. Dabritz, San Bruno; A. J. Case, San Mateo; C. H. Stephens, South San Francisco, with Half Moon Bay to be supplied.

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED

At the conference, resolutions were adopted protesting the mass evacuation of Japanese and proposing that liquor manufacture be discontinued for the balance of the war.

The conference viewed the wholesale movement of Japanese as "race discrimination." It urged "selective evacuation" through an individual judging of cases.

As for liquor making, the churchmen declared that its suspension during the war would conserve essential materials, promote the efficiency of workers and safeguard the morals of service men.

Court Dismisses Weeklies' Action

Suit brought by four San Mateo County weekly newspapers to restrain the San Bruno Herald from the publishing the 1942 delinquent tax lists under provisions of bids called for by the county executive was dismissed in superior court at Redwood City Tuesday by Judge Maxwell McNutt, who sustained a demurrer to the suit and submitted the poetic verdict that "as the mill cannot grind with the water that has passed, the court cannot prevent that which has taken place."

The tax lists already have been published by the San Bruno weekly, of which Harry Elston is publisher. Publishers filing the restraining suit were M. L. Pitschke, Sharp Park Breakers; George Dunn, Half Moon Bay Review; L. E. Harris, Menlo Park Recorder, and Lillian McCue, Redwood City Star-Advertiser.

The Methodists also urged a strict prohibition on the sale of alcoholic drinks in all army and navy posts, and endorsed President Roosevelt's proposal for a $25,000 annual income limit.

Red Cross Seeks Donors; Hears of Service's Value

As the Redwood City, Red Cross chapter today sought additional volunteer blood donors in anticipation of the next visit of the Red Cross mobile unit here on July 10, Mrs. Richard Schmidt, blood donor chairman, received proof of the value of the service.

"This is proof that donors of blood to the plasma banks throughout the nation have not given in vain," said Rear Adm. C. S. Freeman, commandant of the 13th Naval District, after plans to rush Red Cross dried blood plasma from strategic centers to wherever disaster demands its use went through their first acid test on the Pacific Coast.

The test was the unannounced arrival of 56 survivors from an American freighter torpedoed and sunk 40 miles southwest of Cape Flattery, northwest tip of America, and this is the way it was passed, according to Red Cross information: "At 12:45 p.m. Tuesday the navy, fearing that the condition of crew members—exposed to the sea and wind for over 30 hours—might be grave, asked the Port Angeles Red Cross chapter to obtain 75 pints of dried plasma for use if needed. "At 2:30 p.m. the same day the 75 pints were here. By police escort and by plane this blood from the veins of American volunteer donors had been rushed in all-time record speed from its storage place in Seattle in an hour and three quarters including loading time. The usual traveling time from Seattle to Port Angeles is three and a half hours.

"Anticipating with hard-headed realism that similar sinkings will occur off this coast, navy officials here expressed satisfaction with the results of the first crucial test of plasma delivery."

Eight Chemists Aid In Decontamination

SAN CARLOS—Poison gas decontamination unit members in San Carlos are especially fortunate in the number of chemists registering for the war work. M. R. Hosmer, San Mateo County civilian defense gas instructor, said this week.

Of the nine men now registered for the 18-man staff, Hosmer said that eight were chemists with a head start in the understanding of the work.

Meeting Monday night in San Carlos City Hall the unit made plans to establish six first aid stations in various sections of the city. Stations will be equipped with Chlorox, baking soda and other gas aid essentials and unit members using gas-proof suits will be in a position to answer all emergency calls quickly, Hosmer said.

There are eleven towns in America named Moscow.

R.C. Women Will Play Bigger Role

Women in Redwood City will be given a greater opportunity to take part in the Civilian Defense organization as the result of plans announced Tuesday by Mayor Floyd Granger. Action was taken at the request of Judge E. I. McAuliffe, chief air raid warden.

In the new plan women will serve in the day time replacing men wardens who are not available. Mrs. Florence Donnelly will be appointed assistant chief air raid warden in charge of women's activities.

Previously the women had been organized under Mrs. Donnelly in a "matrons" organization with no practicable affiliation with the civilian defense headquarters, officials said. Judge McAuliffe told 30 senior women wardens gathered at Sequoia High School this morning that in the future they will be given training similar to that obtained by men wardens and that they would be responsible during daylight hours for the maintenance of the service.

Granger said this morning that even if unorganized, women should be given defense training in order that they be able to protect their own families. Another significant civilian defense move decided upon Monday night was establishment of a substitute control center at the No. 2 firehouse. "If the present control center in the library is bombed, we'll move to the substitute station and continue operations," Dimmitt explained. Substitute control center workers have also been arranged for, Granger said.

Ordered from civilian defense headquarters in San Mateo are lapel pins, arm bands and certification blanks for those workers who have completed enough training to become certified.

New air raid wardens who are eligible for certification today are Pete Constanta, Fred Irwin, H. A. Manning, Emil Mueller and W. T. Nelson. Eligible for certification as an auxiliary police

R.C. Youths Will Join Farm Camps

Ten Redwood City high school-aged youths have made application to take part in Young Men's Christian Association summer harvest camps which have been organized in an effort to aid California farmers faced with a loss of farm crops because of a war labor shortage. Dan Lacey, San Mateo High School coach, announced this week.

Lacey and Joseph Acheson, San Mateo vice principal, will be in charge of a camp at Marysville to which Peninsula youths will be sent. While there the youths will live under YMCA supervision in high school buildings and receive approximately $4.50 per day for their labor.

They will be charged $1.50 per day for their maintenance. On the Peninsula so far 75 youths have signified their intention to aid with the harvesting and in San Francisco 400 others have applied.

Although the quota has been filled, Lacey said that youths interested in helping with the war-necessary work would be accepted if they make application at the attendance office of Sequoia Union High School.

Camps will start early next month. There will be a meeting tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in the San Mateo City Hall for those youths who have registered.

Coroner's Jury Returns Accident Death Verdict

Carson Sanderson, Kraft carnival employee, was killed in an unavoidable accident, a coroner's jury, sitting at Franklin and Crowe Funeral home in Redwood City, decided Tuesday. Sanderson, who was killed June 7, was struck by a truck on Bayshore Hwy. near Belmont as he was walking to a gas station after his truck had run out of gas.

The jury also decided that in the head-on collision between George Pearson and Dirk Zyker in Redwood City June 13, in which both men were killed, Pearson was to blame for the accident.

Militia Volunteers Meet in Menlo Park

Those who wish to serve in the state militia or strengthen California's defenses by means of the militia are invited to attend a meeting in the auditorium of the Menlo Park Central School tonight at 8 o'clock. Dr. John B. Schneider, recruiting and administrative head of the California State Militia in San Mateo and Santa Clara Counties will explain the need for voluntary enrollment of men between the ages of 16 and 65 for military training and service in that organization.

He will show a motion picture of a similar organization in England, made up of 2,000,000. The volunteer militiaman, it is pointed out, will not be used for active duty away from the county in which he enrolled, nor for any service except in the event of enemy attack or invasion. They will not be called for guard duty or to suppress civil strife or strikes. Members of the unit will determine the time, place and frequency of training meetings so that they will not interfere with other duties.

Both men and women are invited to attend the meeting Friday night. Although only men are now being enrolled for the militia, a women's auxiliary may later be formed.

Gatchel Tells USO Details

The great need of United Service Organizations was stressed at a meeting of the Redwood City Exchange Club Tuesday night by D. Fred Gatchel, who has been on leave of absence from Sequoia High School doing USO work.

Gatchel explained the work the USO is doing and said considerable more help is needed. Most of the fellows in military service are away from home for the first time and many of them get homesick, he stated. A great morale problem therefore is faced.

He told of the need of providing something for the men to do. He cited as an example, one town of about 1000 persons, into which approximately 25,000 soldiers have been moved. There was nothing for the men to do, Gatchel said, until the USO provided rooms for the men to meet their parents and friends and provided entertainment for them. Much still remains to be done to keep up the morale of so many, however, he pointed out.

Next Tuesday at 7 p.m. a district meeting of all Exchange Clubs in the Bay Area will be held at Grace & Pierre's in honor of Edward Zwierlein of Palo Alto, recently elected state vice president.

State Defense Council Issues Railroad Order

Floyd Granger, Redwood City mayor and chairman of the city civilian defense movement, this week announced that he had received word from Sacramento that State Council of Defense officials had requested railroads to reduce the volume of light visible to the sky to as great an extent as possible in accordance with blackout regulations.

Because of this request, Granger said, individual cities were asked to "refrain from unnecessary interference with such essential railroad operations as are carried on during blackouts."

Contribution to Victory

The Junior Victory Army of the Ravenswood School District has undertaken many projects in behalf of its country, but one of its most successful projects was its house-to-house canvass for scrap rubber. In one day, young members of the organization collected 1850 pounds of rubber. Shown above with part of the collection are, left to right: Capt. Don Bastford, Adjutant Lillie Howard and Pvt. Donald Elliott.

Fugitive Surrenders To Police

Inability to obtain work because he had no selective service registration card led a 22-year-old youth to give himself up to Menlo Park police Tuesday night as a fugitive from a Washington state prison. He is being held in the county jail in Redwood City today for investigation by FBI authorities.

The youth, Samuel William Stout, who gave his occupation as a truck driver, his address as box 295, Mabton, Wash., and his age as 22, walked into the Menlo Park police station last night and said he had been a fugitive from a Washington state prison since 1939 and wanted to give himself up.

He claims he was convicted for car theft and forgery and was sent to the state penitentiary in Walla Walla, where he served three months and was transferred to the Monroe state penitentiary in Washington, where he served three years, nine months. He told officials at the sheriff's office today that he escaped May 27, 1939, from the prison farm, and that he had been traveling around California since.

He says he was afraid to register for the draft for fear of being captured. He has tried to get work, he stated, but each time an employer asked for his registration card he had to "duck out." He came to Menlo Park two days ago and decided to give himself up.

FBI authorities were to question Stout this afternoon. Washington officials have been wired in an effort to check his story.

The Redwood City District Association of INSURANCE AGENTS

(REDWOOD CITY - SAN CARLOS - BELMONT)

Regarding

War Damage Insurance

Exactly at midnight, June 30, the FREE insurance against damage caused by enemy action, or through defense against enemy action, ceases.

From July 1 you can only secure such protection through a policy issued by the WAR DAMAGE CORPORATION, a company organized by the Federal Government in co-operation with the leading Fire Insurance Companies and the National Association of Insurance Agents. Both the companies and agents are handling this business on a cost (no profit) basis.

Rates for this insurance are reasonable, ranging from $1 per $1000 on dwellings and contents (incl. automobiles) to $3 per $1000 on certain other risks. These rates are geographically the same anywhere in the U. S. Minimum premium is $3.

Applications must be signed by the insured, and premium paid when application is made at your agent's office. Insurance takes effect when application is received by the Insurance Company, the latter having been appointed Fiduciary Agents of the WAR DAMAGE CORPORATION.

THE REDWOOD CITY DIST. ASS'N. OF INSURANCE AGENTS is affiliated with the National Ass'n. of Insurance Agents. All the firms listed below are members, and ask that you please call promptly, in order that your property may be fully protected:

Little Change Expected In R.C. Plan

National directors of both the Civilian Defense movement and the Red Cross have ordered that the medical side of civilian defense be transferred from the control of the Red Cross to CD jurisdiction, but in Redwood City representatives of both organizations denied Tuesday that the switch here would affect the situation greatly.

Earl P. Wilsey of San Mateo, chairman of the Civilian Defense Council, said workers on the medical side hereafter would be known as members of the citizen defense corps and that the organization would be controlled by CD workers.

Mrs. Z. T. Thorning, chairman of the Redwood City chapter of the Red Cross, said that she could see absolutely no change. "We have always worked under orders from the Civilian Defense control center and we will continue to operate in exactly the same manner," she said.

Mayor Floyd Granger, chairman of the Redwood City Civilian Defense Council, said that in conference with City Mgr. C. L. Dimmitt it had been decided to request that a chief medical officer for the city be appointed by Wilsey.

"In that way," the mayor said, "the responsibility will be on that one man to make the medical corps function. He will have to deal with the Red Cross and the workers and any arrangements he desires will, of course, be backed by the Civilian Defense Council."

Ownership of medical supplies now administered by the Red Cross will remain with the Red Cross, Wilsey continued, but will be controlled by Civilian Defense. Plans for this control, he stated, are being determined by Red Cross and CD officials in the 9th Corps Area.

Mrs. Thorning said that the material was controlled by the Red Cross as a public trust and the organization would not relinquish ownership under any condition.

Wilsey explained that training of disaster personnel, the manufacture of bandages and the training of nurses' aides will remain in Red Cross control.

Likewise, he said, natural disaster (as opposed to a war bombing) will be Red Cross controlled.

"For example," he said, "if we have an earthquake in Redwood City, the Red Cross will be in

City Council Favors Pay Boost

Redwood City civil employees were assured today of a war bonus pay raise by City Manager C. L. Dimmitt following a budget discussion Monday night between the city manager and the city council.

Although Dimmitt did not release figures showing the extent of the raise, he did say that the council favored the pay hike unanimously.

The raises, he said, would be given in the form of lump sums to each employee rather than as a percentage hike.

EQUITABLE BASIS
"This way," he explained, "we will be able to give larger raises to those in the lower income brackets than to those in the upper brackets."

Final discussion of the salary ordinance will be held next Monday night at an adjourned meeting of the council.

Yesterday Mark E. Ryan, fire chief, requested council to grant a pay boost in order that he could attract workers to the department.

WAGES TOO LOW
Ryan claimed that wages were so low that good workers could make larger salaries in other fields.

It was pointed out that in the past council had granted vacations to police and firemen but that these raises did not cost the city any additional funds. Instead of hiring additional men, the work was split among the men remaining on duty.

charge. On the other hand if we are bombed, the civil defense will be in charge."

Wilsey said that there has been no friction between the two organizations, to his knowledge, and that the relationship has been very harmonious.

National directors of the organizations who have declared the switch are Norman Davis for the Red Cross and Dean Landis for the Civil Defense.

100 Workers Participate

Faced with a shortage of material, trained personnel and an area within the bombing zone of enemy aircraft, the Redwood City fire department under the control of Chief Mark E. Ryan last December set out to train auxiliary workers, divide the city into working regions and devise means of checking incendiaries.

Tuesday night the completed organization went through a city-wide drill without a slip up.

Ryan and Joseph Lodi, deputy fire chief, have divided Redwood City into six districts, each of which is connected with the firehouse by a private telephone line, is provided a headquarters, is equipped with fire rigs and is manned, with the exception of one man, by volunteers.

WARDENS WIN HELP
The great majority of incendiary-set fires, Lodi said, will be handled by Civilian Defense block wardens without calling the fire department at all.

If, however, the blaze gets out of control of such methods, the warden telephones the CD control center which relays the call by private line to the fire department.

There the call is noted by four women workers, who make out forms showing the details of the situation. The location is marked on a large map. Ryan gives orders regarding which company will fight the blaze and the orders are relayed by the women telephone workers to one of the six divisions.

EFFICIENT DISTRIBUTION
In a major bombing many fires may be set and consequently not enough trucks will be available to fight them. To combat this situation the six divisions are practicing fire fighting without truck pumping equipment.

"We'll send a truck and three men to a fire and leave the men and enough hose to connect with a fire hydrant," he said. "Then the truck will return to the station to take out another squad of three and the men will remain at the fire, controlling it with just their water line."

"Of course," Lodi explained, "we don't have the power in the hose that we would with a pumper but we will have enough power to check the flames and that's all we can hope to do."

WITHOUT A SLIP
Tuesday night 100 volunteers working with regular firemen answered more than 25 practice calls without a slip. Calls were routed to the stations, men answered them, water was put into the lines, the lines were broken into sections again and trucks brought the equipment back to the stations.

Ryan maintains fire equipment in the central station until an alert is called. Then to avoid damage, should the stations be hit by a bomb, he distributes it among the six stations.

For Commuters

The temporary depot for bus commuters from Peninsula points will be opened June 29 by Greyhound on Seventh and Stevenson Sts., between Mission and Market, it was announced today by F. W. Ackerman, vice-president of Pacific Greyhound Lines. All local bus commutation service between San Francisco and San Jose, including that on both the Mission St. and Bayshore Hwy. routes, will operate into and out of this depot. Buses on these routes formerly used the Fifth and Mission St. terminal.

"By devoting this temporary depot exclusively to Peninsula service, overcrowding at the Fifth and Mission terminal will be greatly relieved," Mr. Ackerman said. "War conditions have taxed all transportation facilities to the limit, and increase in the number of bus passengers has placed a heavy burden on the main San Francisco depot," he pointed out. "We believe this diversion of the heavy Peninsula traffic to Seventh St. is the answer to the problem until such time as the permanent depot can be constructed on this site."

For further convenience of passengers arriving in San Francisco from Monterey, Pacific Grove, Hollister and Santa Cruz, buses from these points will also stop at the new Seventh St. temporary depot before proceeding to the Fifth and Mission terminal.

CANDIDATES QUALIFY

All candidates for political offices in San Mateo County have qualified and their names have been sent to the secretary of state in Sacramento, County Clerk William Augustus announced today. Nomination papers for four committeemen are still in doubt, however, Augustus said.

Heat Needed
For Good Health

Health is the nation's first priority—and a few months from now, when cold and shivery winter days arrive, family health will depend in large measure on the even, warm temperature of homes.

A home, always kept cheery and comfortable with automatic gas heat, is a defense against colds, flu and other ills. In busy war times, particularly, when everyone is needed for production work, precious days lost by unnecessary sickness are a boost for the enemy.

Now is the time to make sure that your gas heating system is in top-notch form. Now, when warm weather is at hand, is your opportunity to "duration-ize" your furnace with timely repair, so you can laugh at the weather man when winter comes.

Fortunately, repair parts are still available and trained service men are ready to do whatever is necessary to put your gas heating equipment in top running form.

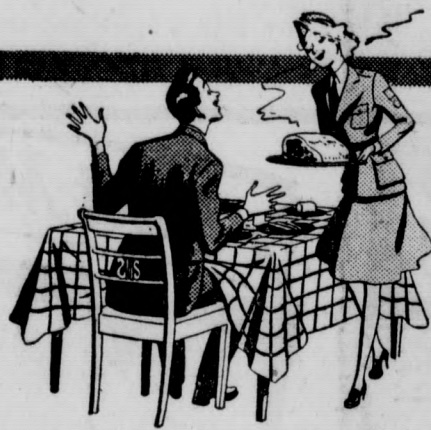

The muskrat is the most common commercial fur animal in the United States.

British Honduras is the largest source of mahogany used in this country.

TWENTY-MINUTE DINNER

Here's a standby one-dish meal. Heat frankfurters and sauerkraut together until bubbling. Mix prepared biscuit flour as for drop biscuits; drop from spoon into boiling kraut; cover, and boil 12 minutes without peeking. And you have dumplings with frankfurters and sauerkraut.

Three Suggestions that might also be helpful in keeping your husband as well as your Volunteer Office happy are these:

1. Plan all your menus and your shopping in advance. Keep a large stock of canned goods always on hand to fill in the gaps.
2. Set the table and make everything ready in the kitchen before you leave for your defense duties.
3. Prepare such things as meat loaves, macaroni entrees and desserts before you leave.
